Dear Chapter Members, other ISPLS Members, area County Surveyors & close Kentucky and Ohio Surveyors:

Our next Chapter meeting will be at 6:30 PM Wednesday, March 4, 2009 at the Dearborn Adult Center, 311 Tate Street across from the Lawrenceburg Fire Department. We will have a serious discussion about the Greenville Treaty Chapter sponsoring the State ISPLS Convention in January 2012. We will discuss doing this alone or being a co-sponsor with another chapter. At our last meeting, we were told that it would be possible for our small chapter to do this.

If you have not paid your $20 annual dues, please send your check to Mark Seiler. This is a good deal—this makes you a member of the ISPLS and prevents you from having to pay the non-member fees for continuing education seminars and non-member convention fees.

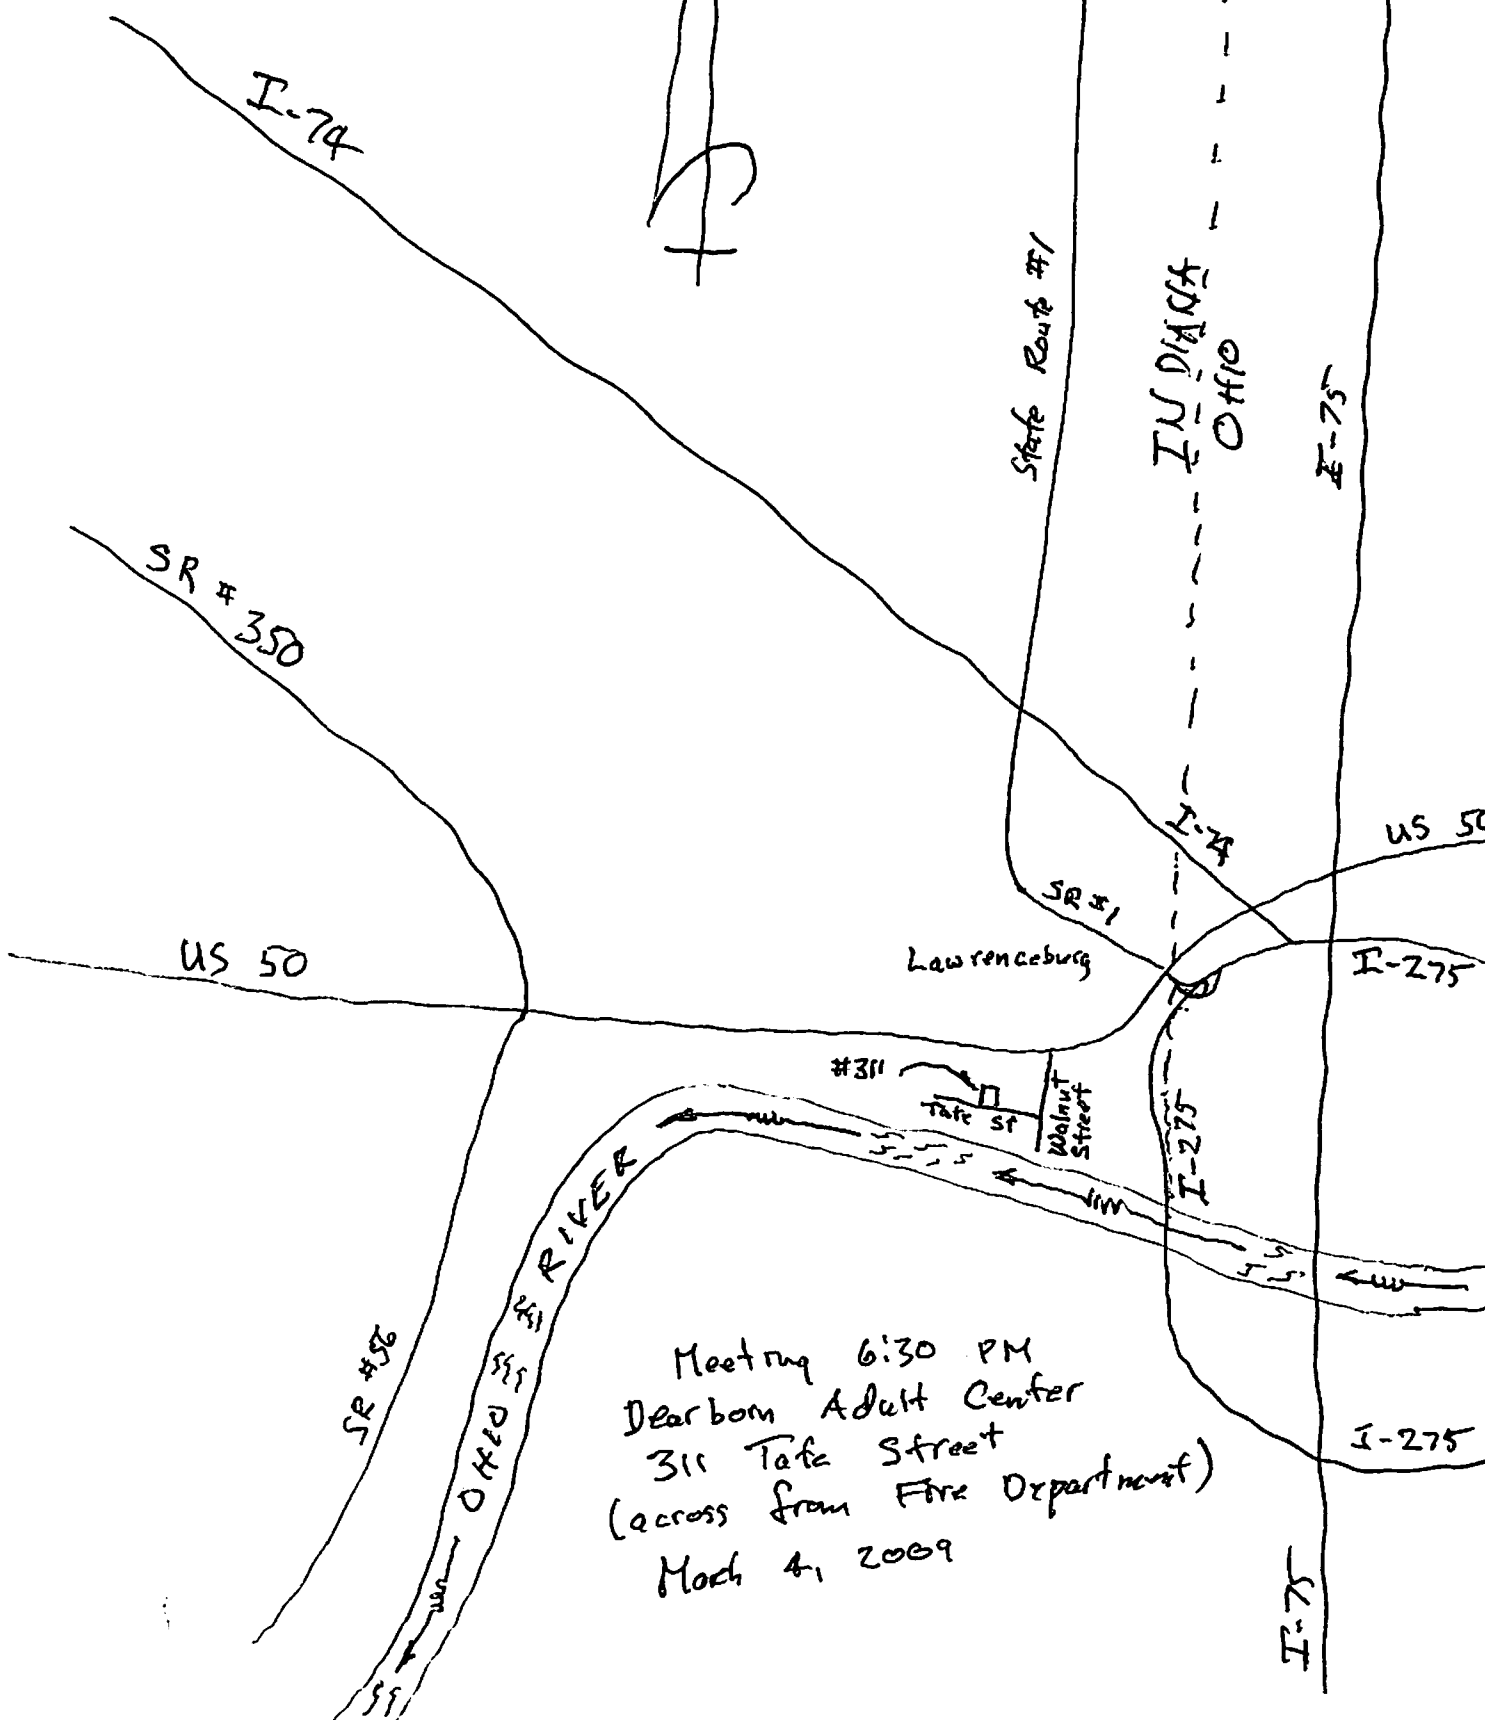

Our speaker for the evening will be Dan Rensing, a semi-retired ISPLS member living across the Ohio state line in Hamilton County. In 1907 there was an automobile race from Peking to Paris. Two years ago, there was another race over the same course to commemorate the centennial of the first race. The participants had to drive antique autos and had one other person with them to make two-person teams. Dan participated with his antique auto. He will tell us about his adventure, trials and tribulations over the several-thousand mile race.

A map of the meeting location is included. I hope to see many new faces at this meeting. Bring a friend.

Sincerely,

J. Arthur Wenzel
